1 Title

This Act is the Outer Space and High-altitude Activities Amendment Act 2025.

2 Commencement

This Act comes into force on 29 July 2025.

Part 1

communicate with means send information to, receive information from, or both

GBSI means ground-based space infrastructure

GBSI activity authorisation means an authorisation granted under subpart 6A of Part 2 ground-based space infrastructure, subject to any regulations made under section 88(1)(13A),—

(a) means infrastructure or other equipment in New Zealand (whether fixed or mobile) that—

(i) is capable of being operated to carry out a regulated activity; and

(ii) is not at high altitude or in outer space; but

(b) does not include either of the following:

(i) any infrastructure or other equipment (including television satellite dishes, satellite phones, other mobile phones, and internet access terminals) of a type that is made or supplied primarily for personal, domestic, or household use:

(ii) emergency locator beacons

operate, subject to any regulations made under section 88(1)(13B), means either of the following in relation to ground-based space infrastructure:

(a) directly communicate with the GBSI, or otherwise exercise direct control over the GBSI, unless the communication or control—

- (i) is carried out or exercised by a person on a temporary or intermittent basis; and
 - (ii) is for the purpose of identifying, tracking, controlling, or otherwise communicating with a space object owned or operated by that person, or by a person on whose behalf, or for whose benefit, that person is acting; and
 - (iii) is overseen by someone who ordinarily operates the GBSI and who holds a GBSI activity authorisation to operate the GBSI for that activity:
- (b) oversee another person’s temporary or intermittent direct communication with, or control over, the GBSI as described in paragraph (a)(i) to (iii)

Example

The usual operator of a ground station antenna (person A) holds a GBSI activity authorisation to operate the antenna to monitor space objects. Person A temporarily hands over direct control of the antenna to the owner of a satellite that is being launched (person B) so that person B can monitor the satellite for a period following the launch. Person A oversees person B’s use of the antenna. For the purposes of this Act, person A, not person B, operates the antenna.
