Regulations

1 Title

These regulations are the Witnesses and Interpreters Fees Amendment Regulations 2013.

2 Commencement

These regulations come into force on 1 July 2013.

3 Principal regulations

These regulations amend the Witnesses and Interpreters Fees Regulations 1974 (the principal regulations).

4 Regulation 2 amended (Interpretation)

In regulation 2, replace the definition of paying officer with:

paying officer means—

- (a) a Registrar or a Deputy Registrar in respect of witnesses or interpreters paid by him or her; or
- (b) the person who authorises payment, in any other case.

5 Regulation 3 amended (Application of regulations)

In regulation 3(a), replace “in a District Court in its criminal jurisdiction” with “to which the Criminal Procedure Act 2011 applies”.

6 Regulation 4 amended (Fees, allowances, and expenses payable by the Crown)

In regulation 4(2), delete “, except where notice has been given on behalf of the Crown to the private prosecutor that the prosecution is not to be conducted by the Crown Solicitor”.

Rebecca Kitteridge,
Clerk of the Executive Council.

Explanatory note

This note is not part of the regulations, but is intended to indicate their general effect.

These regulations amend the Witnesses and Interpreters Fees Regulations 1974 (the principal regulations) to align the principal regulations with the Criminal Procedure Act 2011. The regulations come into force on 1 July 2013, which is the day on which the Criminal Procedure Act 2011 will be fully in force.

Regulation 4 amends the definition of paying officer in regulation 2 of the principal regulations. The amended definition clarifies that Deputy Registrars are included in the definition of paying officers.

Regulation 5 amends regulation 3 of the principal regulations, which is the application provision. The principal regulations currently apply to the payment of witnesses and interpreters for the Crown in criminal and civil proceedings and to any proceedings in a District Court in its criminal jurisdiction. Because the existing restriction to District Courts is no longer appropriate in light of the Criminal Procedure Act 2011, the amendment extends the application of the principal regulations to any proceedings to which that Act applies.

Regulation 6 amends regulation 4 of the principal regulations, which makes provision for fees, allowances, and expenses payable by the Crown to witnesses and interpreters in judicial proceedings, by removing an exception that is no longer applicable.

Issued under the authority of the Legislation Act 2019.
